Activity:

- Reflect on Lois’s fishing Yarn. Have students identify and discuss what Lois and her dad were doing in the story.
- Explain that ‘fishing’ is a doing word.
- Say ‘I wonder what you can do’ Have the children respond verbally.
- Model the sentence “That’s right! _____ is a doing word.”
- Suggest the idea that we create a class I CAN book to show all the things we can do. Read the “I can” book from Royal Far West School.
- Have the children draw or paint a picture of what they can do with the “I can _____” sentence starter at the bottom of the page.
- Scribe the rest of the sentence, saying each word as you write.

Use comments and questions to extend children’s sentences.

Give lots of praise.

C. Talk about what you can do to give children ideas. E.g. I can read a book on the lounge. I can swim in the pool. I can eat ice-cream.

Q. What is something that you can do that makes you happy?

Children may need prompting to help them generate their own ideas. You could refer back to the story and read the sentences as examples.

C. Tyler, I saw you playing with the lego. Q. What were you building?

Wait for the child to respond (some children need more processing time)

Child: I made a tower

Q. Was it tall? Strong? What colours did you use?

Child: Tall. Red

Let’s put it into a sentence.

So you could say “I can (wait) build with.....
